17 Residents of SM County Become New U.S. Citizens

United States citizenship was granted this week to 17 San Mateo County residents by Superior Judge Ralph McGee of Amador County.

The new citizens were given a talk on their rights and obligations by Clyde L. Ogden, superintendent of the Sequoia High School Dist. Members of the Woman's Relief Corps of Redwood City acted as hostesses to the new citizens.

Three of those admitted live in Redwood City. They are Annette Helen Lucas, 2902 Jefferson Ave.; Sarah Ann Byrns, 773 Lakemead Way; and Arthur Cora de Figueiredo.

Others admitted were: Mary Louise Madrigal, and Na-tascha Gass, East Palo Alto; Florence Dompe and Phyllis Hope Blanchard, Menlo Park; Daniel Slater Robertson, North Palo Alto; Jean Shaw, Belmont;

Cecil Christen, and Robert James Edwards, Burlingame;

Constantine George Carahallios and Caroline Simonsen, San Mateo; Sheila Ruth Caudill, San Bruno; Gino Mearini, Half Moon Bay; Joseph Lopez and Ada Bertini, South San Francisco.

Auto Dealer Named In Divorce Action

The wife of a Daly City used car company owner has filed suit for divorce in superior court here, accusing her husband of infidelity and of signing her name to income tax reports.

Mrs. Iris L. Stevens, 324 East Bellevue Ave., San Mateo, charged that her husband, Ralph, last year made $50,000 from his used car business which, she claims, is worth $175,000. She asks for "reasonable" alimony and interpreted "reasonable" to mean $1500 a month. Mrs. Stevens also is asking $5000 for attorney's fees, $500 court costs and for accounting of her husband's and the firm's records, and all community property.

The couple was married in San Francisco June 28, 1946, and separated on Jan. 14 this year. There are no children.

After they were married, Mrs. Stevens charged, her husband "did openly and notoriously cohabit with one Frances MacArthur in San Francisco" and with "one Gladys Hansen in Monterey County."

She claimed that Stevens, without her authority, and in direct violation of her request, signed her name to federal income tax reports and estimates. She charged that such estimate was "false and untrue."

Her husband, Mrs. Stevens continued, has been able to support her in the manner to which she is accustomed but has refused to supply ample funds to support her and their home, and "at all times the said defendant has expended sums of money in entertaining women other than the plaintiff."

Few RC Dogs Win Honors

Only a few dogs from the Redwood City area took top honors at the Golden Gate Kennel Club dog show in San Francisco, where a large part of the major wins went to dogs from Southern California and out-of-state.

Biggest local win went to a whippet, Robrecht Bambi, owned by Robert Wakefield of Redwood City. Bambi was awarded best of breed honors and placed fourth in hound group.

E. B. Berman's Ch. Chief of Staff won best of breed in the standard Schnauzer specialty show, while Zaba of Selby, owned by Berman and M. E. Selby took best-opposite-sex in the breed.

In West Highland terriers, Wee Tyke O'tibbles Aarne, owned by Dr. Bernard S. Aarons of Menlo Park, went best-of-breed.

Best-opposite-sex in Irish wolfhounds was won by Cragwood Kennel's Barn Hill Gilda, owned by Mrs. Norwood Smith of Woodside.

Cub Pack 15 Adds 4 New Members

Cub Pack 15 Friday night inducted four new members—Richard Hedvall, Keith Read, David Capitolo and Fred Nidiffer.

After the new cubs had taken their oaths, Jimmy Fitzgerald, Ronald Fryer, Joe Moir and Don Davis did a dance around an artificial campfire.

Awards were given to Nick Barber, lion badge; Russell Triano, bear badge, one gold, one silver arrow; Berry Lawless, denner stripes; Joe Moir, bear badge, one gold arrow; Ronald Fryer, lions badge, one gold and four silver arrows; Donald Peterson, assistant denner's stripe.

Entertainment was provided by Jimmy Fitzgerald, who played the violin; Ronald Fryer, piano; Keith Read, clarinet, and Mack LeMetre, piano.

In the only breath-taking stunt of its kind, Lee Hendricks guides his two horses, the "Flying Twins," over a new 160-horsepower Packard convertible in a Roman-jump, thrilling rodeo audiences across the country. (Camera fans note: picture taken at 1/6,000 of a second by strobe light).

Future Bay Area Expansion Seen as Equal to Any Region

The San Francisco-Oakland Bay Area has seven television channels assigned it (counting San Jose) and therefore will have as great a choice of programs as New York, Chicago or Los Angeles though it is only seventh in total population.

The Bay Area will have all the major network services and will have a greater choice of programs than Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cleveland or Boston.

The Federal Communications Commission has assigned the following television channels to Northern California cities.

San Francisco and Oakland

Bakersfield has two channels, 8 and 12, for which KERO and Pearl Lemert have applied.

What is the AUDOGRAPH?

Have you seen it?
Heard it? Tried it?

Do you know what it can do for you?

Here is an entirely new kind of electronic Business Recorder especially created to help you get things done more easily, quickly, conveniently. Here is an instrument that records dictation, telephone conversations, meetings and conferences on paper-thin, virtually indestructible plastic discs you can slip in an envelope and mail—discs that cost but a few pennies yet record for over 60 minutes.

Moreover, the AUDOGRAPH is incredibly light—the smallest and lightest of all dictating instruments, lighter than most portable typewriters, taking far less space than a letter tray. No turntable. No recording or playing arms to manipulate. Just simplicity itself—a masterpiece of American manufacturing resourcefulness, star-studded with revolutionary new features never before available in any instrument.

Before you decide on any dictation instrument be sure you see the AUDOGRAPH in action! Phone or write for FREE demonstration and FREE TRIAL in your office on your desk, no obligation, of course.

State's 1960 Population Will Be 14 Millions: Spurr

California's population is expected to reach 14,000,000 in 1960, as compared to 10,000,000 at present, according to a forecast made today by William A. Spurr, professor of statistics in the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

Professor Spurr, who pointed out that this population forecast exceeds earlier official estimates by at least a half million, predicted an even more rapid rate of growth in the state's economic output. Basing his estimates on a production index covering the entire century from 1860 to 1960, he predicted that production of the state will increase by nearly 50 per cent between 1948 and 1960.

The estimates of the Stanford statistician place net migration into the state at an average of 265,000 a year during the 1950s, which exceeds the previously all-time high yearly average of 261,000 marked up during the 1940s. He noted that the outlook by counties varies widely, but said that his estimates indicate that the state's rural and suburban areas as a whole are expected to grow at least as rapidly as the metropolitan centers.

The forecasts were published in a monograph, "Forecasts of California's Population and Production, 1950-1960," issued by the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

Professor Spurr explained that he used seven methods in his predictions of population growth. These include estimates of migration based on national income and past trends; projection of various curves fitted to past data; the summation of forecasts by counties; and the more usual methods of predicting births and deaths and the state's proportion of national population.

On the basis of the "law of growth," California is regarded by Professor Spurr as a very young state. Its expansion since 1940 appears not to be merely a war boom which will be corrected by later loss of population, but as nearly typical of a long-continuing rate of growth which has averaged 45 per cent per decade since 1860.

This rate of gain should continue at a gradually declining pace for many years, according to Professor Spurr, despite the short-term effects of booms, war and depressions.

WE ALL EAT: Sugar Continues to Be Most Used Flavor, Despite Unkind Claims

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

Who's wrong about sugar? The peculiar thing about the stuff is that sugar continues as the most popular, most used flavor on a worldwide basis, in spite of all the unkind things said about it by so many nutritionists and dentists. Sugar is a refined, sweet product, but the crusades against it get pretty bitter.

We would expect less enlightened people to eat something cheap and toothsome, harmful or not, but here in the United States, the average person today eats 10 times as much sugar as the average citizen a century ago.

The conscientious person wonders why, if all the bad things said about refined sugar (sucrose) are true, the truly powerful Food and Drug Administration doesn't put a stop to its wide use.

In reverse, that same person must wonder why, if the things said about sugar are not true, the talk is allowed to be so one-sided.

The world is producing about 35,000,000 tons of sugar annually, and our per capita consumption has climbed back, after rationing, to almost 100 pounds per year.

If sugar is as harmful as some would have us believe, such great production and use should be discouraged; the land should be devoted to growing foods more helpful to a hungry world.

And if sugar is not the insidious destroyer of health we've all been told, the average person would like to know that, too.

The Truth? What we all want is the truth—the latest, most authoritative information available.

If the extremists who say, "Beware! No sugar at all!" are right, we'd like to know—at least to commend their Spartan approach. We can still do as we please, when we get to the table, but we want to know the facts, just the same.

This seems like a good place to explain my own attitude.

and how it may color the column. Like nearly everyone else, I like the taste of sugar in many foods and drinks. I'd like to believe that it can be enjoyed freely without harmful effect to the teeth, bones, or general physical condition.

Good nutrition seems more important, however, especially for growing children. I'd be willing to forego much of the pleasure of sweetened foods in order to promote the health and well-being of children in the family, if the facts show this to be necessary. And I'd go cautiously on any product which threatened my own health.

In other words, where sugar is concerned, my attitude is as open and unbiased as possible, admitting a taste for sweets. I have no axe to grind for either side. Those who advise against refined sugar do a good job of it, and certainly sugar needs no champion. It does right well, going its own sweet way.

Definition. Granulated cane or beet sugar is a carbohydrate, 0.5 per cent water, the balance a chemical compound of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen which is soluble in half its weight of water and melts at 367 degrees F. Sugar is refined to contain no minerals, no protein, it has no vitamins. But sugar does contain 1805 calories per pound—840 calories per cup.

Land Use. As a source of calories, sugar ranks highest among productive crops, yielding about 6.6 million calories per acre. On a worldwide basis, it's estimated that 2.5 acres are required to produce adequate food for one person. In the United States, our diet is better and requires 3.5 acres per capita.

The flavor of sugar is sweet, and we commonly take it as the standard of the sweet taste, although other products, such as dulcin and saccharin are hundreds of times sweeter. About seven milligrams of sugar on the tongue is the least amount noticeable to the taste.
